

The Bolton News

NOV
N
OF

Friday, December 11, 2008 01204 522345 theboltonnews.co.uk

TICKETS TO SEE
ON JOHN FIVE PAIRS UP FOR GRABS!

NOLAN'S TOP TEN
NEW YEAR WISH

IN OUR 24/7 ENTERTAINMENT GUIDE PAGE 20

BACK PAGE

SNOKER KERE

Paula banned from play — because she's a woman

SNOKER BAN
Paula Rawsthorn, right, Ashley Bridge Conservative Club

SNOKER-mad Paula Rawsthorn has been barred from playing a frame at a local social club — because she is a woman.

The 70-year-old was teaching the balls up at the Ashley

by Saiqa Chaudhri

Bridge Conservative Club when she was told by punters the snooker table was for men only.

She took the matter up with staff and was stunned.

when a bers of Mick anger's
a year came they w

Boutique beauty

Boy's beauty best

REHAB'S Morning Glory is a moisturiser that nourishes and protects the skin resulting in a smooth and balanced complexion. That's what it says on the tin and one male guinea pig, who shall remain anonymous, put it to the test.

He said: "It smells like how I would imagine waking up at the bottom of a rainbow in the jungle. It's got a masculine subtlety to it and smells lovely. I think that's the blend of mandarin and lemongrass. I would definitely buy it."

At £22.50 it's probably a bit more than the average man would like to spend but it's worth it for the fact that it doesn't leave any residue on the face and contains UV protection.

Rehab has a celebrity following which includes Dermot O'Leary. The range also features a no shine balm, a calm balm and Revive Survive, a cream to brighten the face which shows signs of fatigue.

So if you want to treat your man this Christmas then indulge in this... who knows, he may even start to look as baby faced as our favourite X Factor presenter.